

Honeysuckle Creek

Andrew Tink will be telling us about the pivotal role that the tracking station at Honeysuckle Creek played in the first moon landing.

His new book gives a gripping account of the role of its director Tom Reid and his colleagues in transmitting some of the most-watched images in human history as Neil Armstrong took his first step.

Part biography and part personal history, the book makes a significant contribution to Australia's role in space exploration and reveals a story little known until now.
